On the stand Mrs.Dudley told her story practically as she related it to the officers the night of her arrest. She said that Reilly, whom she had never seen before, came to the shoeshop of Friedrichs, at 415 West Second South street, on the morning of Sept. 26, and asked her to give him some cocaine. She gave him a note, which he took to a drug store and secured 10 cents' worth of cocaine, or about two and one-half grains. oner's inquest

In the morning she gave him an injection of about one-third of the amount, and he went away. When he returned in the evening she gave him another injection, using up the rest of his vial of the drug. She said that Reilly told her he was a cocaine fiend and for this reason she gave him the poison. The woman also volunteered the information that cocaine was not dangerous, and said that caine was not dangerous, and said that she was an habitual user of the drug, oft-en using a great deal more than she gave

Dr. E. W. Whitney, however, testified Dr. E. W. Whitney, however, testified that half a grain of cocaine was sufficient to cause death unless the person using it were a cocaine fiend. He also said that from the physical condition of Reilly, as shown by the autopsy, be did not believe that Reilly was a user of the drug. He said that he believed enough cocaine had been given him to cause death, especially as his condition was weakened by a prolonged spree and lack of nourishment. The doctor said, however, that death might possibly have been caused by the excessive use of alcohol, without the aid of the cocaine administered, though it was more than likely a combination of the two poisons which caused the man's death.

Herman Harms, the chemist who made the analysis of the dead man's stomach. said that he found an excess of cocaine in the organs which he examined. He also said that the tissues showed the presence of alcohol, though the indications were that he was not an habitual drunkard.

Tell Manner of Death.

John Friedrichs and Charles Hagar John Friedrichs and Charles Hagar said they were in the shoeshop when Reilly came in there on the evening of his death. They said that he went to sleep in the back room, and after a while fell over, apparently in a fit. They took him out of doors and notified the police.

Patrolmen Nephi Pierce and B. H. Seatly was then believed that Mrs. Davis ger were called to the scene on the night of the death of Reilly, and they told of taking him to the emergency hospital in the patrol wagon and afterward arresting the two men and the woman.

C. C. Knowles, Brigham H. West, J. H. McHugh, David B. Harmon and E. S. Jenkins, fellow employes of Reilly, told of going to the shoeshop just prior to the arrival of the patrol wagon and finding Reilly in an unconscious state, gasping for breath as he lay on the ground at the rear of the shop. They said he al-ways bore a good character, though he was somewhat of a periodical drunkard. The case was continued in order that James O'Boyle of Scoffeld, who, it is sald, was with Reilly all day prior to his death, might be subpoenaed.

mented upon. The platform adopted was as follows:

First—The Democratic party of Davis county in convention assembled endorses in the most emphatic manner the platform adopted by the Democratic state convention held in Salt Lake City on Oct. 4, 1906, and also the nominees of that convention

4. 1906, and also the nominees of that convention.

Second—We recall with some amusement the notorious utterances of Republican candidates for office in former campaigns, enunciated in platform and on the stump, that the work of county officers could and should be done for half of the salaries then paid, and we have waited in vain four years to learn of any Republican office-holder covering into the county tree ury any part of his salary. We call upon the Republicans to make good their anti-election promises or to confess inconsistency.

Not only have the Republicans in power confess inconsistency.

Not only have the Republicans in power not done the work for half price, but we call the voters attention to the fact that the Republican administration has raised the salaries of the commissioners and sheriff above the schedule which they themselves declared was too high by half.

Third Termers Hit.

Third-We direct attention to the ridiculous attitude of the Republican party of Davis county on another once cherished doctrine of their party—anti-third-termism. Before they were in power they de-nounced in most virulent manner any man who, after two terms in office, aspired to any further honors in that line, and de-clared themselves as unalterably opposed to a third term for any man, no matter how tried, trusted and efficient. Now, behold the change. Republicans in power have openly repudiated this doctrine by a formal vote in their county convention held last week, and at the very first possible convertinity they have nominated. sible opportunity they have nominated men for third terms. Again we call upon the Republican party to confess incon-sistency or call down their third term sistency or call down their third term candidates.

Fourth—The Democratic party has all along stood consistently for non-partisanship in the schools and as an earnest of their faith have voted for a Republication of the position of county superintenon for the position of county superinten-dent. We affirm the principle that the county superintendent, while holding that position, should not dabble in partisan politics.

Fifth—We have no hesitancy in pointing to the past record of the Democratic party in Davis county. And we submit that for economy and efficiency the Democratic administrations have been above criticism. The interest of the taxpayer has been always safeguarded and we confidently present the candidates of this convention to the voters with the assurance that the same careful ecenomy and good judgment in county affairs will be the rule if Democratic officers are placed the rule if Democratic officers are placed

Congressman Howell Not Much of an Attraction Without Sideshow Features. (Special to The Herald.)

Price, Utah, Oct. 16.-It took "a free dance after the big show" to attract a erowd last night to hear Congressman Howell and Carl A. Badger discuss the political issues of the day. During the talk of the congressman overcoats were in demand, and that tired feeling permeated the small audience until his remarks were brought to a close. His talk was largely a defense of the Smoot machine, as it were, with profuse apologies to the people of Price and the eastern and northern portion of Carbon county for the Utah delegation's action in doing everything it could against the town in the matter of the location of the United States land office here at the time the Uintah reservation was opened, and also the abominable nail service, or rather lack of it, from here to the reservation country. Howell and Badger made no votes for the Republican party in Price.
